

Fukuwarai Game

Young people in Japan will spend the New Year's holidays much like children in the UK will spend their Christmas holiday. This includes things like spending time with family and eating meals together, relaxing, watching TV and playing games.

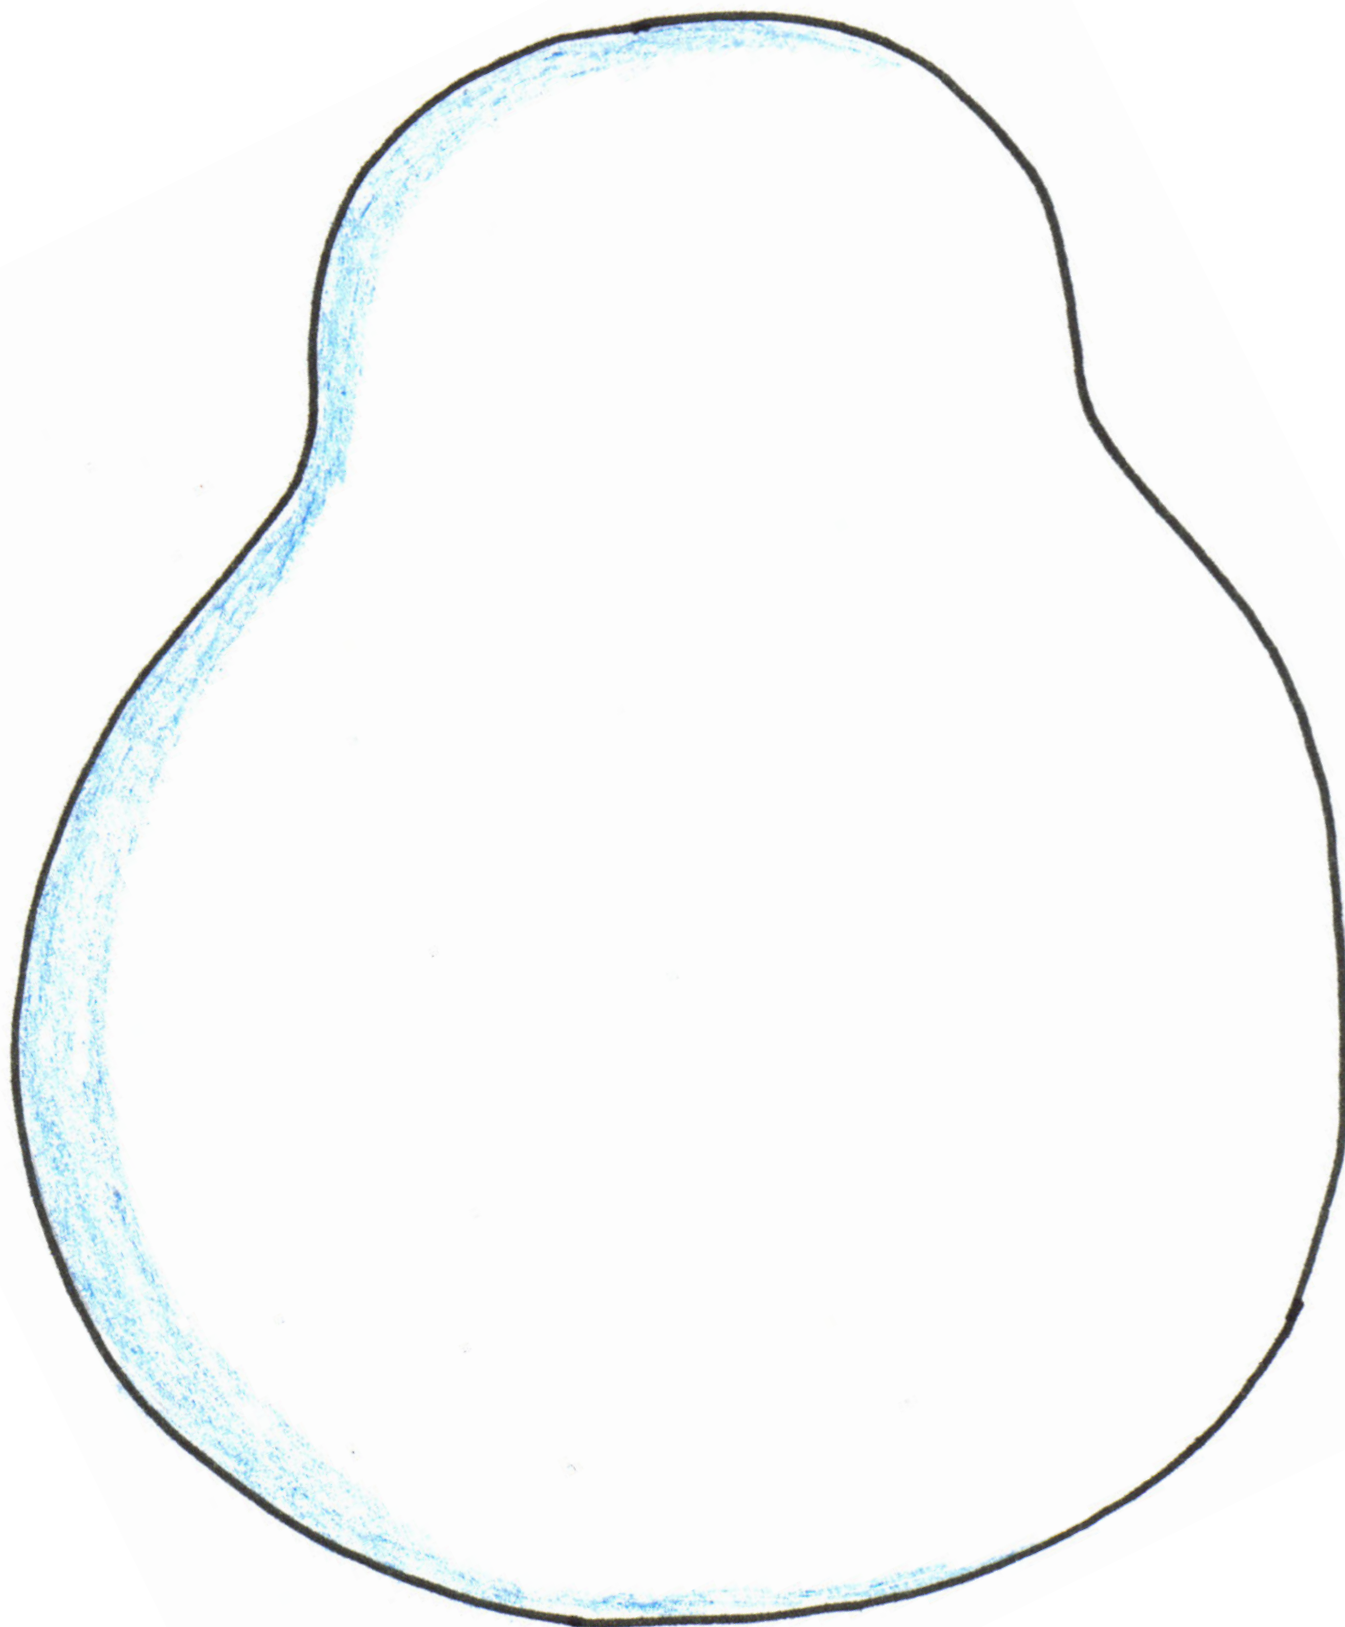

Below is one traditional game called Fukuwarai – why not try it?

Game Instructions:

1. Carefully cut out each part of the face from the template on the next page.
2. Stick blue -tack or masking tape on the back of each part.
3. Find a partner. Partner A will put on a blindfold and try to stick each facial part to the face in the correct spot. Partner B will be the helper who hands partner A each part, one at a time.
4. Once completed, switch over.
5. The winner is the person who can create the most accurate face!
